

THREE BOATS ADRIPT ON RIVER AT NIGHT

FOUR PASSENGERS ASLEEP ON BOARD

Awaken To Find Themselves In Darkness At Mercy of Wind and Waves

DRAGGLED STICK TO POSTS.

Woman and Child Remain Calm While Husband Fights Against the Elements.

WATCHMAN KEEPS HIS HEAD.

Wrecked in sleep, four persons were adrift in the Tennessee river last night on three unmanageable boats and barges. They were: Mrs. William Terry, Ethel Terry, Mr. William Terry, George Eggleston.

Torn from their moorings in Mechanicsburg by a heavy accumulation of driftwood, the steamers Mary Michael, Monte Bauer with eight barges and a gasoline boat, the Gertrude M., drifted down the Tennessee into the Ohio wholly beyond control, ramming into the different craft tied along the river bank.

On the Monte Bauer, the only person was the night watchman, George Eggleston. There was no watchman on the Mary Michael. On the gasoline boat were Mr. and Mrs. William Terry and their daughter Ethel.

The first indication any of them had that the steamers and barges were adrift, was when they were jarred by the heavy surge of the boats and heard the strong ropes snapping.

All were asleep when the driftwood, which had been accumulating all day Sunday, overcame the shore lines. Eggleston was the first awakened by the steamers breaking loose, and came out on deck in his night clothes. Calling to the Terry family to get them know their perilous situation, he rushed back into the cabin and hastily put on a few clothes.

By this time the drifting steamers had reached the N. C. & St. L. incline and wharfbank, into which they jammed, crushing the wheel of the gasoline boat Gertrude M. Fearing it would sink, William Terry hurried his wife and daughter, who had gotten dressed, to a barge to which the gasoline boat was tied.

They had hardly effected this transfer before the steamers and barges struck the steamer Harth, bounding back into the river by the contact. When they struck again, they hit the south end of the Paducah wharfbank, this collision crushing in the side of the Gertrude M.

Eggleston, the night watchman, ran across the barges, jumped to the wharfbank, and then into a yawl which was tied to the Mary Michael. The Monte Bauer had gotten loose from the rest of the boats and barges and he started toward it in the yawl. The Terry family had gotten back into their boat after they struck the wharfbank.

The drifting steamers scraped the wharfbank and the steamer Joe Fowler, barely missed the dry docks and the steamers Kilt Carson and Scotia, and a curve in the river gave them a clean sweep toward the Illinois shore.

This gave Mr. Terry an opportunity to get his boat away from the rest of the boats, and he managed to throw a rope across the head of the Kilt Carson while they were passing that boat.

At this juncture the Joe Fowler took a hand, starting down after the drifting steamers with their helpless human freight.

The steamers continued to drift close to the bank, and Eggleston on one occasion, when near the I. C. incline, jumped out into the river up to his waist in water, struggled to the shore and tied a line to a log from the steamer Monte Bauer.

The steamer dragged the heavy log off the bank into the river as if it had been a feather, and Eggleston swam back to the boat.

The Mary Michael and the barges were farther out in river and some distance ahead. The Joe Fowler was catching up with them rapidly.

When the Monte Bauer reached

When the Theano struck, the crew, numbering 20, remained on the vessel two hours, then took to the life boats. A few moments later the hulls exploded, the shattered hull slid off the rock into deep water. Almost overcome by exposure 10 of the crew reached Port Arthur. The boat in which the others sought safety was found by the steamer Iroquois which brought the men here. The Theano was a steel steamer of 1816 tons burden and valued at $80,000.

The Rev. Pinkerton Preaches at the Christian Church—Music at the Episcopal.

NOTES OF SUNDAY SERVICES

Many of the churches yesterday were compelled to shorten or call off their services entirely, owing to trouble with the furnaces. It seemed to be a furnace epidemic. Water in the cellar prevented the furnace from being used at all at the Broadway Methodist church, and at Grace Episcopal church, the afternoon sermon had to be dispensed with. No services were held at night at the First Christian church on account of the furnace not giving out proper heat.

Comparing God's kingdom to a well-regulated business enterprise in which every person has his work assigned to him, the Rev. Calvin Thompson at the First Baptist church drew a strong picture of our method of attending to God's business at the morning service yesterday. He said that we should be more energetic, should exercise more thought in God's business than in the material affairs of life, but that the opposite is the rule. He said that God's business was specialized and that to every person is assigned a task, which that person alone can execute.

BODY OF MAJOR MOSS IS LYING IN STATE

Reached Paducah Early This Morning And Was Met By Committee.

Taken Immediately To The Elk's Home, Where It Will Remain Until The Funeral.

HE DIED IN THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

Honored by his confederate veteran camp and by his lodge, the Elks, the funeral of Major T. E. Moss in this city will take place Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Elks' home, on North Fifth street. The body will lie in state at the hall. The J. T. Walbert camp will march from the city hall to the Elks' home in a body and the funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. Calvin Thompson. The Elks and Confederate Veterans will act as pall-bearers.

Major Moss' body arrived from the Philippine Islands early this morning. He died there last year and was buried with military honors, but in accordance with his request, was brought here for final interment by his friends.

The body reached Paducah at 3:30 o'clock this morning. It was met at the depot by committees from the Elks and Walbert camp, Confederate Veterans, consisting of Messrs. Tom Harrison, Rodney Davis, Wallace Well and Dick Clement, of the Elks, and Capt. James Koger and W. H. Patterson, of Walbert camp.

The Circumstances of His Death.

Mrs. R. P. Wheat was seen by a reporter for The Sun this morning at her rooms at Fifth street and Kentucky avenue, where she is staying while in the city. Mr. Wheat and her little son accompanied Mrs. Wheat to this country with the body of Major Moss. She left her son in school in Pennsylvania.

Speaking about the circumstances surrounding the death of Major Moss Mrs. Wheat said that they were slightly misunderstood by many of his friends in Paducah. Major Moss was in apparent health when he died and his death was wholly unexpected. He left this country in April of 1905, thinking that his health would improve by the trip and new country. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wheat. After a tour of the western cities in this country, they took a ship at San Francisco and sailed to Honolulu. From there they went to Japan, spending a month in that country. When they reached Manila Major Moss had improved far beyond his expectations.

It was while playing chess at his daughter's house in Manila in the afternoon of September 2, 1905, that his death occurred. Without any warning, his head fell forward and he died immediately. After an examination the doctors said his death was not caused by any trouble he had had before, but by a clot on the brain.

Special Courtesy Was Extended.

Major Moss was nearly 66 years old when he died. The fact that he could be brought back to this country for burial was due to the unusual courtesy accorded them by Major General Corbin, at that time the commander of the army forces in the Philippine Islands.

The law that no civilian can be carried away from the island without five years after his death was waived by General Corbin who, placed the army medical staff at their disposal, enabling them to have Major Moss' body embalmed.

Major Moss while a resident of Manila was made an honorary member of the Army and Navy club and a member of the University club.

Major Moss entered the Confederate army in the company raised by his brother, J. W. Moss, and in the battle of Donelson was one of the six men to reach the top of the works in probably one of the severest engagements of the war. He also was in the fighting around Vicksburg, where his brother was killed.

While being carried with a number of other prisoners from one prison to another, on the Atlantic Seaboard, they overpowered the federal guard, landed the boat and walked to Richmond, though arriving there after that city had surrendered.

At the close of the war he was adjutant major on General Joseph Johnston's staff.

The active pallbearers will be chosen from the Elks and the honorary pallbearers will be chosen from the J. T. Walbert camp. For the Elks the following have been selected: T. H. Harrison, R. D. Simenta, J. W. Campbell, Wallace Well, W. F. Bradshaw, Jr., R. C. Davis.

duct of Railroads Towards Its Employees.

BURGLAR PROVED OBLIGING.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 19.—Work on the new state capitol is progressing rapidly, three stories of the structure being already up, and the work of putting on the cornice and the roof will be well under way before January 1, next. All of the large columns of the Bedford stone, which form the main ornamental feature of the building, have been swung into place, the last one being hoisted from the cars today and set in position just over the main entrance of the building. Matt Sandidge, a cripple, and his wife were awakened by the burglar's movements. Sandidge and his wife picked up firearms conveniently at hand and commanded the intruder to depart. He declined, and the couple began firing. Mrs. Sandidge's skirt caught on the trigger of her gun and the load entered her right thigh. "For God's sake, call a doctor," Sandidge cried to the burglar. The intruder departed at once, and within a short time a physician had arrived saying he had been summoned by a stranger. Mrs. Sandidge's recovery is considered doubtful.

$20,000 TO BEAT DRUM.

New Yorker Organizes Orchestra in Order to Pound Bass.

What small boy is there who, has not envied the pompous person who beats the bass drum in the band and who has not hoped to become as great as he? To few do the cherished dreams of boyhood become realities. An exception is Simon E. Bernheimer of this city, known to his friends as "the millionaire drummer," who not only beats a bass drum, but actually owns a band, says a New York telegram.

With vast wealth at his command Bernheimer is content if he can get into an obscure corner and solemnly boom out the noisy notes at the wave of the leader's baton. It is his only hobby. It costs him about $20,000 a year. As his estimated wealth is $15,000,000, this is a mere bagatelle to the "angel" of the Amicilia amateur band, which is an organization Bernheimer owns, and in which he is the humble drummer. The man with a strange amusement also is official bass drummer of the orchestra of the exclusive German Liederkreis club in East Fifty-eighth street, but he derives his chief pleasure from his own band.

Bernheimer is a brewer. Although musical in his tastes, he never had a musical education. He did not get opportunity to indulge his passion full-ly until 20 years ago. He found that although the proud owner of a bass drum, he could not play it well at home without exciting remonstrances from his neighbors. There also was some slight objection in his own household. No one seemed to appreciate as did he the delights of a bass drum solo.

In 1896, when the Amicilia orchestra, a private organization of music lovers, was formed, the brewer offered to play the drum. Those unfamiliar with his accomplishment laughed. However, Bernheimer was unanimously selected when he showed his friends how skillfully he thumped the big instrument. For years the wealthy man pounded away in the orchestra, happy and contented. When the Amicilia was dissolved in 1900 Bernheimer was disconsolate.

A friend who realized how deeply the brewer felt upon the subject suggested to him he form a band of his own. Bernheimer thought the idea a happy one and six years ago the Amicilia amateur band was organized. It has grown to be a full military band of 65 pieces, comprising some well known wealthy amateur musicians. Although the members pay dues, the burden of the expense falls upon the organizer and he willingly pays.

Bernheimer has the best bass drum that money can buy, and he never allows it to leave his possession. Other members of the band, as a rule carry their instruments to and from the places where they play. Both dignity and weight prevent the brewer from doing likewise. He has a trunk made especially to hold his drum, and this he expresses to his destination. Bernheimer never has been known to miss a rehearsal.

"I have nothing to say about the band," replied he to a query. "I just beat the bass drum—that's all."

BANISH THE WHITE LIGHT.

Greater Safety in Green for "Clear Track" Signal.

The white light as a night signal of clear track is being banished from the Erie railroad as unsatisfactory in principle, and practically all of the system as far east as the Rochester division has now been equipped with a new code of lights, which makes green, instead of white, read "clear," and yellow, instead of green, read "caution," says the New York Times. The red lenses in the low or dwarf signals, which mean "stop," have been changed to violet, not because of the teaching of scientists that this color acts more powerfully on the color-sensitive nerves than straight red, but simply to distinguish the stop signals on the through tracks from the multitudinous red signals at the interlocking points in the switching yards. White as a signal light has been doomed, because it is no color at all, and every danger and precautionary signal on a railroad is a potential source of disaster from the fact that it becomes a "clear" signal at once should anything happen to the lens of colored glass. This danger is avoided by the adoption of green as the "clear" signal, for if either a violet or green lens is broken, the yellow light of the unscreened lamp in the signal lantern would spell caution to the approaching engineer. Even if the lantern should be burning bright enough to appear white, the clear light would give notice that something was wrong.

Another count which the engine drivers have held up against the white light is the ever-present danger of mistaking some chance night light beside the track for a signal that all is clear. Green lights are scarce, away from the police stations.

SOLVES SERVANT PROBLEM.

All the Luxuries, Including Idleness and Night Key.

A family of Newark, N. J., has hit upon a solution of the servant problem. It is contained in the following advertisement, inserted in the Newark Evening News:

HOUSEWORK—Wanted, by small family, girl to assist in general house work; no washing or ironing; mistress will do all chamber work, including sweeping and dusting; four nights a week allowed, also one whole day; night key given; private bath connected with girl's suite of rooms; no plan, but will get one if required; salary $29 per month and perquisites; will give reference. Address Reference, box 87, News office.

The purpose of putting the wages at $29 a month is to make it easy for the applicant to say "One dollar more," thus raising her wages to $30 before she has begun her round of pleasure, says the New York World. The family have overlooked none of the details of their plan of salvation. Owing to the cost of newspaper space they did not enumerate the perquisites; but applicants will be told that they include liberal allowances of butter, coffee, sugar, cold chicken, bottled beer, cakes, the boss' cigars and such other staples as by time-honored custom go to the housemaid's friends or relatives.

LUCKY BASEBALL GAME

Dippy Third Baseman Thought He Was Grain of Corn.

"The luckiest game I ever saw was," says Jimmy Ryan, "was an exhibition game we played with Anson several years ago. There is an institution for the insane near Baltimore, and as we had an open date in between Philadelphia and Baltimore, Anson agreed to stop over there and play an exhibition game with the team which was composed of attendants and the better class of inmates—those that were insane only on one subject. It was a charity game, as we got only our expenses and the receipts went to the entertainment fund."

"Well, we felt creepy playing against those people, and they had an insane pitcher who had us stopped. Bill Thornton was pitching for us, and, although he tried his best, the score was 5 to 3 in their favor when the ninth came. Although it didn't make any difference, we didn't want the story to get around that we had been whipped by a team of crazy men, so we worked as hard as if it were a championship contest."

"That team had a third baseman that had Collins or Nash beaten. He got everything that came near him. In the ninth inning, with men on second and third, I came to the bat and two were out. We needed a hit to win. The pitcher put up a fast one inside the plate, and, just as he started to pitch, a great big Plymouth Rock rooster flew upon the fence and crowed."

"I watched the ball straight at the third baseman, and the game seemed over, so I threw down my bat in disgust and started to jog to first. I heard the crowd yelling and, looking over to third, saw the ball going out to the left and the third baseman tearing across the field as hard as he could run."

"Two runs scored and we won the game. We found out afterwards that the third baseman had a hallucination. He believed he was a grain of corn, and when that rooster flew up on to the fence he thought sure he was going to be eaten up, so he ran away."

Telling Stories to Children.

American children stand in need of a more delicate sense of humor, according to Miss Marie L. Sheddlock, the professional story teller. English children are far ahead of Americans in this respect, Miss Sheddlock said yesterday in the course of what she called a "story talk" given at Normal college for the benefit of Alumnae Settlement.

"It was a great joy to me," said Miss Sheddlock, "during the three months I recently spent in England, to feel I should never gaze upon one of your Sunday papers. I cannot but feel that the English child would lose something of his delicate sense of humor if he were fed on jokes that depend for their fun on tricking some one older. I speak as a humorist, not as a moralist."

Stories, Miss Sheddlock told her large audience, are to the child what novels are to the adult—an escape from the commonplace. The first object in story telling should be to give "great dramatic joy" to children, but the second should be to appeal to their imagination.

"That has come to be almost a trite phrase," said the "story teller," "but there never was a time or a country that needed appeals to the imagination more than this. We have been ringing the knell of the imagination. If only we wouldn't drag children out into the bright light of explanation, but would let them stay in the twilight of mystery!"

Miss Sheddlock warned the teachers before her against the "utilitarian story," where the newsboy becomes the millionaire. "And don't," she implored, "go at story telling like amateurs. It takes a great many years of study to become a good story teller. Never, never tell a story to children that you have prepared on the cars that morning. Only," she added, laughing, "I don't believe the noisy New York cars would permit anybody to prepare a story."—New York Tribune.

BOMB IN ST. PETERS DOES NO DAMAGE

Crowds Attend Anniversary Celebration There.

Pope Engaged in Noon Hour Devotion Prays for Mercy for Misguided Wretch.

WORLD'S GREATEST BASILICA

Rome, Nov. 19.—A bomb exploded in St. Peter's Sunday. The edifice was crowded. Indescribable confusion followed. There were no fatalities.

As soon as the echoes of the tremendous roar ceased, the priest sought to quiet the people but in vain. They fled in all directions. Several women fainted, the church was so large, however, that there was ample room for the crowd to scatter.

No trace of the perpetrator of the deed was found.

Since Saint Anacletus, who was ordained by Peter himself, erected an oratory in 90 A. D., on the site of the present basilica to mark the spot where the Romans of St. Peter were buried, no such dastardly occurrence has been noted in the annals of the church.

Sunday was the anniversary of the dedication of the basilica and it was beautifully decorated. Holy relics were exposed. A large number attended the services.

It was discovered that the bomb had been placed under a scaffolding erected to facilitate repairs of the roof over the rebricated tomb of Clement XIII., which is the most remarkable piece of sculpture in the basilica.

Pope Prays for Mercy.

The pope was engaged in his noon hour devotions when the bomb went off. He asked anxiously if the church had been injured. Upon being reassured, he fell to his knees, saying that he must implore mercy for the misguided perpetrator.

Every piece of the bomb that could be found was carefully examined. The bomb evidently consisted of a large tin box bound tightly with wire. It must have contained two pounds of gunpowder and three pounds of nails. The nails were of three sizes, some seven inches long, so heavy that the explosion threw them but a short distance. The nails were wrapped in newspapers dated November 16 and 17, proving that the bomb was prepared Saturday.

The rumor having spread that the pope intended to visit St. Peter's to pray before the tomb, where the outrage was committed drew an exceptionally large crowd to the basilica. The rumor was unfounded, for only Cardinal Rampolla entered with the procession.

A three days' service of prayer will be celebrated in all churches in expiation of this offense to religion. This explosion makes the third anarchist outrage in Italy in four days. The other two being the murder of Professor Rossi in Naples and the explosion in front of the Cafe Aragno in this city, November 14.

St. Peter's is the greatest basilica in Christendom.

It took 350 years in building and stands as the result of the efforts of 43 popes and the genius of Michael Angelo, Bramante and Rafael. The commission of such an outrage in such a place called forth unlimited condemnation. The theory is held that this attempt was not directed against the papacy, but rather was a challenge to society in general by attacking religion, in the most sacred institution of the people.

Feeding a Rubber Plant.

A woman who lives in a little flat on West Twenty-eighth street has a rubber plant which she considers king of its kind. Standing on the sill of her front window, it reaches almost to the top of the upper pane, some of its leaves being over eighteen inches long.

"It puts forth one new leaf every week without fail," she explains proudly. "And did you ever see such a fine glass and quality to the leaves of any other rubber plant?"

"I'll tell you how it is—it's all due to feeding it properly. My plants get good, rich food. Every time I buy mutton or beef for dinner I wash it carefully in a sudsman, instead of holding it under the spigot, and after ward I pour the water, which has some of the blood of its meat in it, over the roots to give them strength. Then I also give my plant a tablespoonful of cod liver oil once a week. I feed it to the earth, and the plant drinks it up."

"I never heard of any one else feeding a plant this way. The idea is all my own, and I'm proud of it. I have never seen any other rubber plant so

KENTUCKY'S VALUE MORE THAN BILLION

Census Bureau Gives Figures To Sustain It.

Gross Land Frands Discovered in Wyoming and Reported to Federal Authorities.

RAILROADS ARE INVOLVED.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Kentuckians say their state is worth more than the rest of the country put together. All of them believe so, and why not? Even though the census bureau disputes it with cold figures. The state of Kentucky, according to the officials of the census bureau, today is worth just $1,527,186,230. Several days ago a bulletin was issued placing the total estimated wealth of the United States at the stupendous figure of one hundred and seven billions. The billion and a half dollars it would be necessary to put up to buy Kentucky from Millie Point to the Big Sandy includes the following: Real property and improvements, $859,247,997; live stock, $91,489,357; farm implements and machinery, $17,682,829; manufacturing machinery, tools and implements, $30,907,185; gold and silver, coin and bullion, $41,372, 698; railroads and their equipment, $155,772,000; street railways, telegraph and telephone systems, Pullman and private cars, shipping, canals, waterworks and electric light and power, $59,718,312; all other property, $271,295,852.

Land Frands in Wyoming.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Affidavits are on file with the government here and have been called to the attention of President Roosevelt charging that the gigantic land frands whereby the Union Pacific Railroad company and the Union Pacific Coal company secured illegally coal lands in the state of Wyoming valued at many millions of dollars were perpetrated with the full knowledge of the government land office, if not with the connivance, and were known, if not tacitly assented to, by the department of the interior. The affidavits are made by Artemus J. Smith, of Smith & Hradbury, dealers in mines and mining at Denver.

MUNICIPAL PLANT FAILS.

Columbus Has Had Trouble in Making Its Own Gas.

New York, Nov. 19.—A Columbus, O., telegram to the Times says: The city of Columbus, through the city council, has decided to issue and sell, if possible, bonds to the amount of $140,000 to repair and equip the electric light plant owned by the city. It was thought the city would sell the plant to a private corporation, but political influences were too strong.

Some of the members of the city council wanted to employ an expert engineer to examine the large storage dam near the city, which cost a million dollars, and report whether the water power could not be used for generating electricity. This proposition was too sensible for the politicians. They seemed to want to generate the electricity at a greater cost.

The plant has been a losing proposition. The debt of Columbus is $11,650,700. The taxable property is $80,000,000, and, according to the Longworth law, the city is within one million of the limit for bond issues. It has recently spent one million dollars for a filtration plant for the water supply, a million for a sewer disposal plant, and a half million for a garbage disposal plant. The tax rate is now $3.02 on the $100. Adding to this the street paving and other extras, there are exorbitant tax bills.

A cry has gone out by the advocates of the municipal ownership of the electric light plant that the generators are not sufficient to produce 2,040 lights as required and that the machines are overtaxed. Not long since the plant was shut down for repairs, and the light was furnished by private electric companies, and was so much better than that furnished by the city that some of the citizens wanted to continue the contract.

WISE PRECAUTION

TAKEN BY ELECTRICAL INSPEC-TOR OF PADUCAH.

Mr. McPherson Will Instruct Merchants How to Avoid Danger in Holiday Displays.

W. J. McPherson, city electrical inspector, has received a letter of instruction from the Western Association of Electrical Inspectors detailing the class of display novelties, which will and will not be permitted in the business districts. It is a list of instructions formulated by experienced inspectors who have watched every point until the slightest cause for a fire has been noted.

The instructions.
"The following excellent suggestions are made by our show window and display lighting committee. Start your campaign early" is the way the instructions read.

Flexible cord in show-windows is a fruitful source of fires.

Keep decorations and merchandise off cord drops in store.

Exposed clip receptacles are unsafe in show windows.

Cutouts, switches, fuses and motors in show windows should be removed.

Thin and other metallic decoration should be kept clear of lamps, sockets, receptacles, or conductors.

Wires carried over floors or show windows should be protected by conduit.

Inflammable material should be kept clear of lamps and sockets.

Structures to which electrical work is attached should be substantially built.

The above are the instructions which Inspector McPherson will issue. He wants every merchant to follow them and holiday displays will afford fewer opportunities for fires.

CONFEDERATE REUNIONS.

The resolution to dispense with the sponsors and maids of honor at Confederate reunions, coming as it does unsolicited from the Daughters of the Confederacy, shows a consideration and regard for the soldiers of the lost cause that must make their old hearts beat warm with pride and satisfaction in the thought, that a new generation of southern womanhood holds them in the old tender regard. It shows an appreciation of the real meaning and original intent of these reunions, of the fact that the veterans are the central figures in gatherings that must mean more to them than to anyone else.

Somewhere it has been intimated that the old soldiers have become a mere feature in a parade setting for a cavalry on horseback and beauty in carriages. This is hardly the case, but it is fine of the women to think of the old veterans in soiled gray, when the music and flowers and gay talk are all present to make them think other thoughts.

And now, since the women have suggested it, we are not sure we would wish the sponsors and maids of honor dispensed with. Somehow their bright faces and smart gowns add a touch of color to the scene, and make the affair a public demonstration instead of a mere reunion. The sponsors and maids of honor are representative of the present, as the soldiers are of the past. They indicate the spirit of today doing honor to the spirit of yesterday. After all, the old soldiers are the heroes of the hour.

It may be that hostess cities are sometimes inclined to elaborate on the social side of the occasion, and by comparison seem to slight the veterans, but this can be remedied. For the veterans' part they want the reunion to be a real camp-fire around which they may mingle, renew old wartime acquaintances and live over again for a few days an episode that made them brothers in life and death.

We doubt if the veterans will sustain the Daughters of the Confederacy in their resolution to dispense with the sponsors and maids of honor, but it was fine of them to suggest it.

COST OF LUXURIES.

One hundred millions for luxuries!

All that money we literally blew in during the fiscal year, 1906, and every cent of it went to Europe.

During that time we drank six million dollars' worth of champagne, and then think of all the things that went with it, that we must have bought right there at home. The thought of it makes us feel like reforming. These figures merely hint at a story of excesses that brings the blush of shame to our cheeks. Going along day by day in the even tenor of our ways spending a little for this and a little for that, we did not realize the pace at which we were traveling. It was not until the startling total of our extravagance was published by the bureau of statistics in Washington, that we were shocked into appreciation of our style of living.

Diamonds? We bought 'em by the bushel—thirty-five million dollars' worth—and we dropped another trifle of five millions for other kinds of colored pebbles.

Our cigar and cigarette bill for the year was something like twenty-five millions.

We must keep closer watch on our expenses. It scarcely seems possible that the women spent seven millions just for feathers last year.

One hundred millions! It didn't seem to us we were wasting any time or having an unusually good time, but when the aggregate is before us, we can not figure out how we had time to do our work while this orgy was going on.

One hundred millions for European novelties! We must have had an awful time blowing it in; but now with Christmas approaching, we almost wish we hadn't spent so much. Just twenty dollars of that hundred millions would help some before December is gone.

What blessed assurance is conferred to the stockholders of the Standard in the public communication from 23 Broadway, that "Your directors feel that there is no adequate reason for such a split." And what disturbing confidence is expressed in the wisdom and integrity of the courts.

According to his sworn return before enthusiastic receptions to William Randolph Hearst during his campaign cost him over a quarter of a million dollars. It seems that Hearst himself really was the host of the occasions.

PLATFORM AND PRACTICE.

Another plank is added to the platform for organized labor by Samuel Gompers in his annual address. His propaganda heretofore has been "more and more"—get one increase in wages and then begin at once to agitate for another. "You ask me," he has said, "when we shall stop; and I answer that we shall never stop." It is to be always more and more.

Now he lays down the principle from which there is to be no withdrawal under any circumstances—"No more reductions in wages to American labor; we will resist it to the utmost."

The impulse behind these proposals does Mr. Gompers credit. They are unmistakably for the advantage of American labor.

But mere resolution or demand is not enough. Wages depend upon what political economists call the wage fund; and the wage fund, exactly like interest, sinking fund, repairs and betterments, must be provided by commercial and industrial conditions under which business may be conducted at a profit, and not at a loss. In hard times the wage fund will be small. In extreme panic there will be no wages at all. Labor may compel capital to pay higher wages or not operate at all. It can compel no man to continue in business at a loss.

Organized labor has bettered itself through concerted action in industrial lines. Now Mr. Gompers proposes that it shall operate along political lines. How well or ill this political activity will result for organized labor must depend upon the wisdom with which it is directed.

So far, Mr. Gompers has confined his political activity to attacks upon Republican men and policies under which labor has prospered and the wage fund has been high. He has done his best to defeat the men and overthrow the policies under which wages have been steadily increased, and to put in power the men and the policies under which business was paralyzed and wages went down—Indianapolis Star.

THREE BOATS
ADRIFT ON RIVER

the floating dock of the I. C. Incline. Eggleston managed to get a rope tied and the career of that boat was ended.

The Joe Fowler caught the Mary Michael several hundred yards farther down and tied them to the bank just below.

The damage done all the steamers was slight.

The wheel of the Monte Bauer was broken, as was the wheel of the Gertrude M.

Loyal in Face of Danger.

During the whole trip from Mechanicsburg none of the four persons made any effort to leave the steamers, though they had skills. Eggleston and Terry preferred to stay with their boats to try to save them.

While Mrs. Terry and her daughter Ethel were frightened by the sudden and unexpected occurrence, they have been around the river long enough to be calm under trying circumstances. They were asleep when the eventful trip was started but soon were dressed and out in the chill night air. This morning Mrs. Terry was getting breakfast on the boat after being up all night.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry are from Sevierville, W. Va., and are on their way to the White river in Arkansas. They arrived Saturday and tied up to one of the barges which got adrift. Mr. Terry had worked all day yesterday on the wheel of his boat in order to leave the place where he was tied, as he saw then that it was not safe. Now his work will have to be done over again, as the wheel was crushed in the wild trip.

George Eggleston, night watchman on the Monte Bauer. Lives at 309 Garrett street, and thought before he went to bed that the driftwood was accumulating heavily. When seen this morning by a reporter for The Sun, he was trying unsuccessfully to find something to eat.

Unprecedented Rise.

The river rose more here in the last 48 hours than it has ever done in the history of the city within the memory of the oldest river men. From a stage of five feet Saturday, it has risen to sixteen feet today.

Reports of many rafts getting loose are coming in. The Paducah Veneer company has lost two large rafts of lumber.

The Mary Michael was tied up this morning with its stern pointed directly out toward the river. It was in a dangerous position and efforts to get it about were being made this morning.

The Mary Michael and the barges are the property of Mr. William Katterjohn. The Monte Bauer is the property of Mr. Ed Woolfolk, and was brought back to Mechanicsburg today. The steamers got adrift at midnight and were tied up or caught at 1:30.

Council Meets Tonight.

The board of councilmen will meet tonight in regular session. It is expected that few matters out of the ordinary will be brought up, unless it is something in connection with work going on or plans already under consideration.

Typewriter Sold.

Deputy Sheriff Hume Ogilvie this morning sold a typewriter in the case of the Globe Bank and Trust company against Oscar Jones and others for $50, Roy W. McKinley buying it.

GOOD RAINCOATS
$1.00 and Up

This weather is typical of the winters in Paducah, and there is nothing so serviceable such days as a good raincoat, as they not only keep off the rain, but turn the keen cold winds, too. A raincoat is so much lighter in weight than an overcoat and just as warm.

We are showing some exceptional values at $15 a coat that is easily worth $2 to $3 more. They come in dark shades and mixtures and made in the present season's styles.

We have raincoats, however, from $15 coats up to $30. In this latter price you find the peer of a tailor's $45 garment.

BURNED IN WRECK

ARE BODIES WHEN FREIGHT TRAINS COLLIDE.

Hipley, Tenn., Scene of Disastrous Wreck on Saturday—Orders Disobeyed.

In a rear end collision of a light engine and local freight train at Hipley, Tenn., on Saturday afternoon two men were killed and three seriously injured. Two of the injured are in the Paducah Illinois Central hospital for treatment. The accident was due to the engineer on the light engine running past signals. It is said.

The light engine was No. 1928, one of the big Pacific type, in charge of Engineer G. Rawley and Conductor Charlie Huff. It ran into the caboose of a local freight in charge of Conductor A. Knox Abernathy and Engineer A. C. Allen.

Will Scott, flagman on the local, and John Drumwright, a passenger, were killed outright. A. F. Posey, of Henning, Tenn., a passenger on the local, had his eye knocked out and was badly bruised. Conductor Abernathy had his collar bone broken and was bruised all over while J. C. Morris, a civil engineer of Fulton, had his right leg broken.

The latter two were brought to Paducah where the injuries were dressed. Conductor Abernathy stated that Rawley ran by his signals and hit him while running 30 miles an hour. The caboose caught fire and burned up, and the bodies with them, it is presumed. Where the wreck occurred the local was on a curve and the light engine crew did not see the local in time to stop.

BIG DIAMOND

FOUND IN ONTARIO BY MEMBER OF LEGISLATURE.

Tiffany Has Expert Investigating Rumors of Diamond Deposits There.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 19.—It is expected the announcement will shortly be made of a diamond discovery in the Temiskaming district of Ontario. L. O. Armstrong, the Canadian Pacific colonization agent, expects soon to hear important results from the expedition of geologists and diamond experts sent by the Tiffany firm of New York into the district west of Temiskaming to investigate the diamond indications discovered there.

According to the Rev. Father Paradis, who is well known as a North Ontario colonizer, A. O. Aubin, member of the Ontario legislature for West Nipissing and a merchant of a Sturgeon Falls, Ont., has in his possession a stone which is believed to be one of the largest diamonds in the world. This stone was secured, a short time ago, from the Lake Nipissing district. It is described as being as large as a hen's egg.

CARPENTERS

ARE BUSY REPAIRING DAMAGES TO BANK.

Exterior of First National Is Wrecked Where the Horse Plunged Through.

Carpenters began work today repairing the damage done by the runaway horse of Mr. F. E. Metzger Saturday by running through the closed doors of the First National bank at Third and Broadway. New glass, and partly new window and door casings will have to be built. Saturday, the openings were boxed up with rough lumber. It is said that among the clerks at work in the bank when the horse plunged through, the most popular spot was the vault.

Relief for Rheumatism. These damp days are hard on people afflicted with rheumatism, and relief is sought in all sorts of remedies.

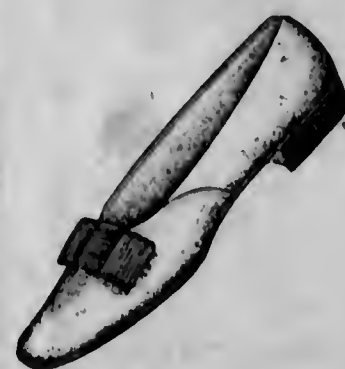

There is no doubt in the minds of people who have suffered with the dread disease and those who have studied it closely that probably more relief can be secured from the Osteopathic treatment than any other.

Of course, some chronic cases won't yield to any treatment, but instances of cases of seven and eight years' standing yielding to three months' treatments can be cited. If you are suffering from rheumatism, I should like to discuss your case with you, examine you and tell you what I can do for you. With the dry hot air treatment that I use with osteopathy I am having very gratifying success with people you know well. Dr. G. B. Froage, 516 Broadway, Rhine 1407.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS TO BE DISCUSSED

County Convention at Broadway Church.

Several Prominent Speakers on Program and Methods of Work Will Be Studied.

PROGRAM FOR THE FIRST DAY.

An event of more than usual interest in the Sunday school work will be the two days' session of the McCracken County Sunday school convention at the Broadway Methodist church, beginning tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock. Four Sunday school specialists of international reputation will deal with every phase of the modern Sunday school work. Samples of all the latest helps and appliances will be on display and the difficult problems of the work will be freely discussed. The Rev. William Bourquin, county president, is especially anxious for the Sunday schools of the city and county to have large representation. Paducah should attend en masse, especially as the present unsettled weather may interfere with the county attendance.

It will be of especial interest to Paducah Sunday school workers to know that Mr. E. A. Fox, formerly of this city, is one of the speakers. He has done more than any several men, perhaps, to bring the Sunday schools of Paducah up to a high standard of modern work and methods. Mr. Fox is one of the speakers for Wednesday's session. Those taking part tomorrow are the Rev. T. C. Gebauer, one of the field workers of the Kentucky Sunday School association, and the Rev. William Megginson, Sunday school secretary of the Presbyterian church, and the program will be:

Many inquiries have been heard the last week concerning the character of work done by Miss Ruth Grey, the "Woman of Mystery" and tonight the people will have a chance to witness an exhibition of her powers and test it. The performance consists of mind reading, and Miss Grey, whose work is of the same character as that performed by Anna Eva Fay, is said to excel that phenomenal woman. A good vaudeville bill is offered in connection with the performance. The evening will be entertaining and mystifying. At Cairo last week Miss Grey had crowded houses.

W. L. Douglas is a progressive shoe manufacturer. His shoes ought to be better each season, and they are better. While he always makes them as good as he knows how, yet as quickly as he discovers ways of betterment, the betterments are made. He never buys any but the very best selected materials. If the market does not afford what W. L. Douglas believes his shoes demand, he makes it. W. L. Douglas passes the tanner and tans sole leather by his own secret process. That is one reason why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes afford such unusual service. Then, again, the upper leather is as good as the sole leather, and the making is as honest as the leather.

For these reasons and because of his unrivalled facilities as the largest shoemaker in the world, it is only natural that W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes should be distinctly superior in style, in service, and in comfort to the ordinary footwear. It is the testimony of millions, backed up by constant purchase, that they have never found the equal of W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes.

HILL--HARRIMAN
DIVIDEND FIGHT*Battle With Billions in New York Stock Market.

Hill Distributes $125,000,000 Among Great Northern Stockholders First.

HARRIMAN WILL DOUBLE IT.

New York, Nov. 19.—E. H. Harriman has dropped the gage of battle for a billion-dollar fight to James J. Hill, and the Great Northern railroad president has accepted the challenge. It is to be a war of dividends.

Hill rushed into New York Friday morning and hurried for home last night. Before he left he prepared the announcement of a dividend of $120,000,000 for the shareholders in the securities of the Great Northern railroad. Harriman has his attorneys at work paying the way for dividend declarations doubling those of Hill.

For every million dollars in bonus that Great Northern stockholders get, it is said that Harriman intends to give Union Pacific stockholders two millions. Hill will draw first blood in the battle. The $125,000,000 dividend dividend will be ready today, Monday, or Wednesday. It will not be prolonged beyond Wednesday. Great Northern stockholders will receive an additional share of stock at par value for each and every share of Great Northern they possess. The old shares are now paying 7 per cent. The new shares will pay at least 6 per cent.

The formal announcement will include other rights possible in the Burlington joint fours, for which the Great Northern pays the Northern Pacific $50,000,000 in cash. Harriman will counter as fast as his attorneys will permit him. He cannot do so now. The government would grab everything above 10 per cent. In any Union Pacific dividend, as by an old law, the Union Pacific is forced to pay the government everything above 10 per cent. of its earnings.

Harriman's lawyers are seeking to evade this through his new investment company.

Indian Reservation Inundated and Indians Lose Cattle and All They Possess.

RAILROAD DAMAGE $150,000.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 19.—The Indians on the lowlands of the Yakima reservation have been driven from their wigwams by the floods. Many have reached Tappanish and tell stories of losses of their sheep, cattle and horses. Some of them have lost all they possessed. They are hungry and penniless.

A courier has been sent to Agent Lynch at Fort Simcoe to announce the conditions and ask help in behalf of the Indians. A number of white families of the low lands of Tappanish river are now surrounded by water and as there are no boats in the country they cannot be rescued. The upper part of Kittitas valley north of Ellensburg, is one immense body of water, miles wide. Losses to live stock are great. Reports of drownings of persons have been received all day, but cannot be verified. It is thought that several families of missing Indians are drowned. A mail carrier named Miller is missing at Tappanish. It is said he and a man named Johnson were on the Tappanish bridge across the Yakima when it went down.

The losses in the Yakima valley to date are:

Northern Pacific, $100,000; North Yakima Valley railway, $50,000; Northwest Light and Water company, $50,000; Cascade Lumber company, $35,000; Yakima county bridge, $25,000; Kittitas county bridges, $20,000; individuals, $30,000; canal companies, $10,000.

The loss in King county will be one million dollars.

By HENRY SETON MERRIMAN
Author of "The Sowers," "Roden's Corner," "From One Generation to Another," Etc.

Copyright, 1894, by HARPER & BROTHERS

She stood looking blankly at the door which had closed behind three men, one old and two young, and perhaps she realized the fact that such creatures may be led blindly, helplessly, with a single hair, but that that hair may snap at any moment.

She was not thinking of Guy Oscar. Him she had never loved. He had only been one of her experiments, and by his very simplicity, above all, by his uncompromising honesty, he had outwitted her.

It was characteristic of her that at that moment she scarcely knew the weight of her own remorse. It sat lightly on her shoulders then, and it was only later on, when her beauty began to fade, when years came and brought no joy for the middle-aged unmarried woman, that she began to realize that it was that she had to carry through life with her. At that moment a thousand other thoughts filled her mind; such thoughts as one would expect to find there. How was the world to be deceived? The guests would have to be put off, the wedding commiserated, the presents returned. And the world—her world—would laugh in its sleeve. There lay the sting.

"Where are you going?" asked Meredith when they were in the street.

"Home."

They walked on a few paces together.

"May I come with you?" asked Meredith again.

"Certainly, I have a good deal to tell you."

They called a cab, and, singularly enough, they drove all the way to Russell square without speaking. These two men had worked together for many months, and men who have a daily task in common usually learn to perform it without much interchange of observation. When one man gets to know the mind of another, conversation assumes a place of secondary importance. These two had been through more incidents together than usually fall to the lot of man; each knew how the other would act and think under given circumstances; each knew what the other was thinking now.

The house in Russell square, the quiet house in the corner where the cab had passed, was lighted up and as if they had reached it. The old butler held open the door with a smile of welcome and a faint aroma of whiskey. The luggage had been discreetly removed. Joseph had gone to Mr. Meredith's chambers. Guy Oscar led the way to the smoking room at the back of the house—the room wherein the eccentric Oscar had written his great history—the room in which Victor Durnovo had first suggested the submarine scheme to the historian's son.

The two survivors of the originating trip passed into this room together and closed the door behind them.

"The worst of one's own private tragedies is that they are usually only comedies in disguise," said Jack Meredith casually.

Guy Oscar granted. He was looking for his pipe.

"If we heard this of any two fellows except ourselves we should think it an excellent joke," went on Meredith.

Oscar nodded. He lighted his pipe, and still he said nothing.

"Hang it," exclaimed Jack Meredith, suddenly throwing himself back in his chair, "it is a good joke."

He laughed softly, and all the while his eyes, watchful, wise, anxious, were studying Guy Oscar's face.

"He is harder hit than I am," he was reflecting. "Poor old Oscar!"

The habit of self-suppression was so strong upon him—acquired as a mere social duty—that it was only natural for him to think less of himself than of the expediency of the moment. The social discipline is as powerful an agent as that military discipline that makes a man throw away his own life for the good of the many.

Oscar laughed, too, in a strangely staccato manner.

"It is rather a sudden change," observed Meredith, "and all brought about by your coming into that room at that particular moment—by accident."

"Not by accident," corrected Oscar, speaking at last. "I was brought there and pushed into the room."

"By whom?"

"By your father."

Jack Meredith sat upright. He drew his curved hand slowly down over his face—keen and delicate as was his mind—his eyes deep with thought.

"The gun?" he said slowly. "The gun?"

He reflected for some seconds.

"Tell me how he did it," he said curtly.

Oscar told him, rather incoherently, between the puffs. He did not attempt to make a story of it, but merely related the facts as they had happened to him. It is probable that to him the act was veiled which Jack saw quite distinctly.

"That is the sort of thing," was Meredith's comment when the story was finished, "that takes the conceit out of a fellow. I suppose I have more than my share. I suppose it is good for me to find that I am not so clever as I thought I was—that there are plenty of cleverer fellows about, and that one of them is an old man of seventy-five. The worst of it is that he was right all along. He saw clearly where you and I were—damnedly blind." He rubbed his dim brown hands together and looked across at his companion with a smile wherein the youthful self confidence was less discernible than of yore. The smile faded as he looked at Oscar. He was thinking that he looked older and graver—more of a middle-aged man who has left something behind him in life—and the slight reminder him of the few gray hairs that were above his own temples.

"Come," he said more cheerfully, "tell me your news. Let us change the subject. Let us throw aside light dalliance and return to questions of money. More important—much more satisfactory. I suppose you have left Durnovo in charge? Has Joseph come home with you?"

"Yes, Joseph has come home with me. Durnovo is dead."

"Dead?"

Guy Oscar took his pipe from his lips.

"He died at Msala of the sleeping sickness. He was a bigger blackguard than we thought. He was a slave dealer and a slave owner. Those forty men we picked up at Msala were slaves belonging to him."

"Ah!" It was a strange exclamation, as if he had burned his fingers. "Who knows of this?" he asked immediately.

The expediency of the moment had presented itself to his mind again.

"Only ourselves," returned Oscar. "You, Joseph and I."

"That is all right, and the sooner we forget that the better. It would be a dangerous story to tell."

"So I concluded," said Oscar in his slow, thoughtful way. "Joseph swears he won't breathe a word of it."

Jack Meredith nodded. He looked rather pale beneath the light of the gas.

"Joseph is all right," he said. "Go on."

"It was Joseph who found it out," continued Oscar, "up at the plateau. I paraded the whole crowd, told them what I had found out, and checked up the whole concern in your name and mine. Next morning I abandoned the plateau with such men as cared to come. Nearly half of them stayed with Durnovo. I thought it was in order that they might share in the submarine. I told them they could have the whole confounded lot of the stuff. But it was not that. They tricked Durnovo there. They wanted to get him to themselves. In going down the river we had an accident with two of the boats. While we were waiting there one night after 10 o'clock the poor devil came alone in a canoe. They had simply cut him in slices. A most heastly sight. I wake up sometimes even now dreaming of it, and I am not a fanciful sort of fellow. Joseph went into his room and was simply sick. I didn't know that you could be made sick by anything you saw. The sleeping sickness was on Durnovo then, he had brought it with him from the plateau. He died before morning."

Oscar ceased speaking and returned to his pipe. Jack Meredith, looking haggard and worn, was leaning back in his chair.

"Poor devil!" he exclaimed. "There was always something tragic about Durnovo. I did hate that man, Oscar! I hated him and all his works."

"Well, he's gone to his account now."

"Yes, but that does not make him any better a man while he was alive. Don't let us cant about him now. The man was an unmitigated scoundrel. Perhaps he deserved all he got."

"Perhaps he did. He was Marie's husband."

"The devil he was!"

Meredith fell into a long reverie. He was thinking of Jocelyn and her dislike for Durnovo, of the scene in the drawing room, of the lunagout at Leango; of a thousand incidents all connected with Jocelyn.

"How I hate that man!" he exclaimed at length. "Thank God, he is dead, because I should have killed him."

Guy Oscar looked at him with a slow, pensive wonder. Perhaps he knew more than Jack Meredith knew himself of the thoughts that conceived those words, so out of place in that quiet room from those suave and courtly lips.

All the emotions of his life seemed to be concentrated into this one day of Jack Meredith's existence. Oscar's presence was a comfort to him. The presence of a calm, strong man is better than many words.

"So this," he said, "is the end of the submarine. It did not look like a tragedy when we went into it."

"So far as I am concerned," replied Oscar, with quiet determination, "it certainly is the end of the submarine. I have had enough of it. I, for one, am not going to look for that plateau again."

"Nor I. I suppose it will be started as a limited liability company by a German in six months. Some of the natives will leave landmarks as they come down so as to find their way back."

"I don't think so!"

"Why?"

Oscar took his pipe from his lips.

"When Durnovo came down to Msala," he explained, "he had the sleeping sickness on him. Where did he get it from?"

BIG TARIFF WALL BUILT BY THE JAPS

Will Turn Balance of Trade Against Us.

Consul General Miller, of Yokohama, Advises Reciprocity Treaties at Once.

THE JAPS ARE STILL FRIENDLY

Seattle, Nov. 19.—United States Consul General Henry H. Miller at Yokohama has issued an emphatic warning to the home government at Washington regarding the trade of this country with the Orient. In a special report now being considered by President Roosevelt, Mr. Miller declares that unless the United States takes immediate and decided steps, this country must see itself outstripped in the Orient and must see Japan constantly increasing her exports to the United States, while becoming less and less a customer of this country.

Mr. Miller recommends reciprocity with Japan and the creation, in the place of the minor consulates, of a corps of commercial agents or attaches under the consul general.

"As in war, so in commerce," according to Mr. Miller, the nation which comes with Japan commercially must be well equipped and will find in Japan an opponent which is a united country of 45,000,000 people with but a single thought, "Nippon."

Hit by New Tariff.

Mr. Miller is now at his farm in the state of Washington, where he is securing needed rest, having returned to this country early in October. The cause of his special report is to be found in the new tariff law, which the Japanese government has recently passed and which went into effect October 1 last. This tariff Mr. Miller believes to be a great menace to American trade.

"There is a splendid field for reciprocity," he said, "and if the United States misses the opportunity it seems to me that it will be a very sad mistake. As a matter of fact the tariff which the Japanese have established is a severe blow to our export business. Under the new law the only product of the United States which is admitted into Japan free of duty is cotton, which the Japanese need to feed the many manufacturers which they have built. Prior to the passage of this law the Japanese admitted free to duty only 28 percent of American products, while the United States admits free into this country 70 percent of Japanese products. It does not take an expert mathematician to tell where this sort of thing will lead, the United States."

"All reports to the contrary, Japan can be depended upon to do everything possible to placate the United States and retain our friendship," continued Mr. Miller. "This being the fact, it would be a comparatively easy matter at this time."

If the administration ticket of trustees of that company be defeated in the election now progressing, was claimed today by W. O. B. Clifford, a general agent of the company in this city. Mr. Clifford said the agents intend to elect Thomas A. Buckner, now vice-president of the New York Life Insurance company, as president of the new company, and that they have already subscribed to $1,100,000 of its stock.

ENJOYS DOG MEAT IN DASH TO POLE

Sufferings of Perry And His Men Described

Esquimaux Almost Insane From Hunger and Forced Out of Way by Storm.

CLARKE'S PARTY WENT ASTRAY.

New York, Nov. 19.—A special from Sydney, N. S., gives some details of the hardships endured by Lieut. Perry and his men. The steamer Roosevelt steamed through the barrier of 8227 degrees north, where winter quarters were taken up, being the farthest north winter quarters in the history of Arctic exploration.

Arrangements to secure the ship and make all comfortable were completed by Feb. 7, 1906, and on that day Perry, with his Esquimaux and three teams of dogs, made his start for the pole. Other parties also went out in charge of Capt. Bartlett, Dr. Wolfe, H. G. Maroon, J. Clark and M. Ryan, respectively. These were relief parties, and they kept fifty miles apart. During the first part of the journey moderate weather prevailed and Perry made good speed. Before his return to his ship, 117 days later, however, terrible suffering from hunger and privation was endured. Undeterred, Perry pushed further forward into the Arctic night, until he reached the highest point ever reached by any explorer, 87.06 north latitude, within 133 miles of the pole.

A fierce snowstorm drove the party out of its course. Perry immediately set out to recover his lost course, but before he succeeded hunger threatened to drive the Esquimaux mad, and Perry was compelled to kill some of his dogs. The commutator enjoyed the luxury of dog meat equally as well as his Esquimaux. When Perry returned to the ship only three dogs out of the seventeen remained, fourteen having been eaten. Musk ox and deer killed on the road by Esquimaux helped the famished men.

Clarke, with one of the relief parties, also went astray, and he was compelled to kill some of his dogs to provide food. Clarke, it appears, was unable to find his way back, but Perry luckily came across his tracks and went to Clarke's rescue. Clarke, it is stated, has not yet recovered from his trying experience.

Perilous Return.

The other relief parties also suffered, but all went through the ordeal with heroic fortitude. Ryan's party ran short of food and had to eat some of the dogs.

While the attempt to reach the pole was attended with great danger, the homeward passage was accomplished amid even greater peril. After getting out of the ice, the trip struggled on in most boisterous weather. Storm followed storm with ever increasing force. For sixty-eight days the steamer was practically at the mercy of the waves and ice, and in that time covered only 200 miles.

Contact with the ice broke away two blades of her propeller, and the stern post, and also the rudder post, and otherwise damaged her stern. A gale carried the foremast mast overboard with the jibboom, and headgear, and damaged the how.

After vainly trying to reach Victoria Head, where food was stored, the Roosevelt, on Sept. 16, continued the voyage south. A little fine weather followed, and then another storm came on. The statement is made that if the ship had been less strongly constructed the expedition would have come to grief.

After battling with the elements for days, Cape York was reached, and then, coal having run short, an attempt was made to continue under sail. This failed.

On Oct. 1, a hurricane started the jury rudder, which had been rigged, and a few days later the rudder broke away and another had to be rigged.

Hebron was reached on Oct. 11, where some wood was secured, but this soon gave out and fittings were used for fuel. At Hopeville, which was reached next, more food and a few tons of coal were secured, the latter from the steamer Virginia Lake through the kindness of Mr. Parsons, her captain. This coal enabled the Roosevelt, which had now been battered so that she could steam only four knots an hour, to reach Battle Harbor.

Perry brought back 300 musk ox and other skins, several domesticated wolves, ten Esquimaux dogs, a boat that was used in the polar expedition of 1872-73 and some cartridges brought by the same expedition. Perry's present plan is to take on coal when he reaches Sidney and sail at once for New York.

He says he has not given up hope of reaching the pole, but his next

Eminent Doctors Praise Its Ingredients.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John F. Lee, of the Editorial Staff of The Eclectic Medical Review says of Unicorn root (Helonius Diolen) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription":

"A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator & makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system." He continues "In Helonius we have a medicine which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent." Dr. F. Lee further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helonius (Unicorn root). Pain or itching in the back, with febrile (or atonic) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women, constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys, menorrhagia (flooding), due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system, amenorrhea (suppressed or absent monthly periods), arising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and anemic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonius, and the medical properties of which it most faithfully represents.

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says: "It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions, and general debility, it is useful."

Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root: "In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in debilitated states."

Prof. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, says of Golden Seal: "Valuable in uterine hemorrhage, menorrhagia, and congestive dysmenorrhea (painful menstruation)."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents all the above named ingredients, and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

ORDER FOR 400 MILES OF PIPE.

Oil Trading From Indian Territory to Gulf to Cost $8,000,000.

Pittsburg, Nov. 19.—The National Tube company has received one of the largest single orders for pipe in its history—400 miles of eight-inch tube for the Mellon interests. It will take the big plants of the company at McKeesport and Lorain a long time to fill the order. The pipe is to be used in connecting the Indian Territory oil fields of the J. M. Gaffney Petroleum company, of which the Mellons are large owners, with the refinery at Port Arthur, Texas, so that crude petroleum can be piped direct from the well to the refinery. It is estimated that the cost of the pipe will be $6,000,000 and the laying at least $2,000,000 more, making a total expenditure of $8,000,000.

KIDNEY TROUBLES

Increasing Among Women, But Sufferers Need Not Despair

THE BEST ADVICE IS FREE

Of all the diseases known, with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal, and statistics show that this disease is on the increase among women.

Unless early and correct treatment is applied, the patient seldom survives when once the disease is fastened upon her. We believe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most efficient treatment for chronic kidney troubles of women, and is the only medicine especially prepared for this purpose.

When a woman is troubled with pain or weight in loins, backache, frequent, painful or scalding urination, swelling of limbs or feet, swelling under the eyes, an uneasy, tired feeling in the region of the kidneys or notices a sediment in the urine, she should lose no time in commencing treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it may be the means of saving her life.

For proof, read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Sawyer.

"I cannot express the terrible suffering I had to endure. A derangement of the female organs developed nervous prostration and a serious kidney trouble. The doctor attended me for a year, but I kept getting worse, until I was unable to do anything, and I made up my mind I could not live. I finally decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a last resort, and I am today a well woman. I cannot praise it too highly, and I will every suffering woman about my case."

FEDERAL COURT CONVENES TODAY

Session Will Last But Two Days This Term.

Only Two Criminal Cases Likely to Be Tried—Civil Docket Is Extensive.

COURT OFFICERS ARE NAMED

Federal court convened this morning at the custom house for the November term, and will last two days. The civil dockets are large, but the criminal docket is lighter than it has been in many terms. This is due to the fact that "bootlegging" has gone on the wane.

Court Officers.

Judge Walter Evans and his officers arrived from Louisville late last night. They are: Walter Evans, judge; George Durrell, district attorney; Horace Jolly, assistant district attorney; G. W. Long, marshal; William Blades and Miss Hortense Horton, of his office; Bridgeford Simms, colored, court crier.

Bailiffs Appointed.

The first action of court this morning was the appointment of L. A. M. Greff, J. J. Clark and O. A. Weatherington, bailiffs. Greff was made court keeper.

The Criminal Docket.

The criminal docket is light, and there probably will be but two cases tried. One is against Sam Sweeney, alleged to have robbed the postoffice at Haysville, Ky., of a registered letter. Heretofore, absent witnesses have made it necessary to continue the action.

The second case is that against Henry Davis, charged with making counterfeit dollars in the rear of Joe Peiter's jewelry store on South Third street. Curtis Ingram, his companion, who passed one or two of the dollars, got one year in the Atlanta prison and is here today to testify against Davis. S. A. Donella, secret service agent, is here to act as a witness. The case was worked up by Detectives Moore and Baker.

Juries Empaneled.

Following the appointment of bailiffs, the juries were empaneled as follows:

Grand Jury.

W. S. Pell, cty.; J. H. Robinson, Marlon; H. C. Vinson, Cadiz; J. M. Denton, Woodville; S. E. Colley, Farmington; A. D. Rudolph, Heights; John T. Lamb, Princeton; T. E. Fortson, Heath; Mims Cotton, Lamasco; L. P. Canter, Lynnville; H. E. Langston, Hardin; Richard Bebout, Sheridan; W. H. Terry, Bardwell; Fritz Schmidt, city; L. T. Polk, city; Eli Nichols, city.

Sam Sweeney Acquitted.

The first criminal case tried was that against Sam Sweeney charged with robbing a registered letter of money at Haysville, Ky., in 1901. The case had been continued from time to time. Today all witnesses were present and at the conclusion of the evidence the court instructed for the defendant, there being no evidence to show that he opened the letter. The jury found for Sweeney, who was discharged immediately after the verdict was read. The jury did not leave the box.

The case against M. G. Cope for alleged embezzlement was continued on account of the illness of his attorney's wife.

Civil Cases.

Simpson against steamer Clifton; West Kentucky Coal company against the steamers Woolfolk and Mary Michael; Mississippi Valley Marine Railway and others against the steamers Mary Michael and Woolfolk; F. W. Cook Brewing company against H. A. Tyler et al, dismissed at defendant's costs. This is the suit for damages against the defendants who are alleged to have destroyed a car load of beer over a year ago.

Josiah Cowper against Mary E. Wren and others, dismissed.

First National bank of Marion, Ill., against E. Rehkopf Saddlery company, defendant filed motion to dismiss without prejudice.

Many City Officials.

Police Judge D. A. Cross and about two-thirds of the Paducah police force are attending federal court in the case of Minnie Tice against Patrolman Thomas Terrell and the same plaintiff against Patrolman Aaron Hurley and their bondsmen. ## GROUND'S TOO WET AT HOPKINSVILLE

So High School Boys Played Basket Ball.

Return Date Arranged for Paducah Next Saturday on the Wallace Park Gridiron.

RESULTS OF SATURDAY GAMES.

Because of the steady downpour of rain Saturday in Hopkinsville no game was played between the Hopkinsville and Paducah high school football teams. The Paducah team did not leave until Saturday morning at 1:40 o'clock and when Hopkinsville was reached the rain set in. It continued, making the game impossible.

In the afternoon a basket ball game was arranged and resulted in the defeat of the Paducah team by a score of 16 to 5. This was a team that had never worked together before. Members of the Paducah basket ball players were Bagby, Hatley, James, Reader and Cheek.

On Saturday the Hopkinsville boys will come to Paducah to play football, and already local enthusiasts are preparing to put out the tickets.

Miss Ada Brazelton and Prof. E. G. Payne and Prof. A. H. Shriver accompanied the team to Hopkinsville Saturday.

Football Player Killed.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 19.—Lyle Nicol, aged ten years, the son of Hughey Nicol, the old Cincinnati and St. Louis ball player, who afterwards had a long career as manager in the Three League, and for a year past has been physical director of Purdue University, died last night in great agony at his home here as the result of injuries sustained in a game of football between school teams last Wednesday.

COMPLAIN OF COAL CAR FAMINE

Southern Illinois Operators Say Railroads Injure Industry.

Carbondale, Ill., Nov. 19.—The coal operators of southern Illinois are complaining that not sufficient cars are being supplied by the different coal-carrying roads to move the product to market, and that thereby, on the threshold of winter, a serious condition confronts the industry. The new plan for car distribution inaugurated the present season is generally condemned. The railroads claim that sufficient cars are distributed, that cars to move 60 per cent of the output are used in the coal-carrying trade. They state that should more cars be added it would mean an overproduction and cause a slump in the market, alike disastrous to both coal operators and the railroads.

FIRST THANKSGIVING

Will Be Remembered by Children at Library.

Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the children of the city are invited to a "story hour" in the children's room at the Carnegie library in celebration of the coming of the Pilgrim Fathers to New England, and of the first Thanksgiving day.

The spacious room will be decorated in a novel and instructive manner, and Miss Bagby will tell of the "Children of the Mayflower," and how they founded a nation. Only children under 16 years of age are invited to be present.

The gauge registered a rise of 10.9 in the last 48 hours. The stage Saturday was 5.3 and this morning was 16.2. It is the heaviest rise known here in that time. Rainfall since Saturday was 7.70 inches. Business at the wharf was brisk.

The Electra arrived from Nashville last week and will be taken out on the ways Tuesday for repairs. The next boat to be taken out on the ways will be the Clyde, which is expected to need considerable repairs. The City of Memphis will take the Clyde's trade after it carries the excursion party to Shiloh park.

The Saltito arrived last night from St. Louis with a good trip and left immediately after for the Tennessee river, though not until it had knocked the little Gate City nearly out of the river. The Saltito swung against the Gate City.

The towboat Fulton arrived from the Mississippi river last night with a tow of 12 empties and tied them up to the Illinois shore. The Fulton then took the Fred Hartweg in tow and carried it to Cairo, and will return here today, take on the tow and proceed to Louisville.

The Bob Dudley arrived from Nashville last night and left today on the return trip to that point, skipping the Clarksville trip.

The U. S. Golden Rod, arrived out of the Tennessee river last night from an inspection trip and left this morning after coaling for the Ohio river.

Central changes are expected from the rise. The Bob Dudley will go back to the upper Cumberland river trade. The Buttrick will arrive today from Nashville, go on the ways or dry docks for slight repairs and then get back into the lower Cumberland river trade. The Buttrick was inspected at Nashville and a few planks will have to be replaced. The Dunbar and Henry Harley, which are tied up in the Tennessee river, are expecting orders any day. The wheel has not been put back on the Henry Harley yet.

The Kilt Carson was to have been taken out today on the dry docks.

The Gate City arrived from Nashville Saturday afternoon, after carrying an inspection party of the men out of that city up the Cumberland river.

The river rose so high Sunday, that the barges being repaired on the ways, which Saturday were high and dry on the bank, were this morning actually in water.

The Clyde will arrive tonight from the Tennessee river.

It is expected that the Georgia Lee will leave Memphis Tuesday evening for Cincinnati, arriving here Thursday.

The advance agent of Christmas is at the wharfboat. A hatch of fireworks came in on one of the boats.

The Joe Fowler did not arrive from Evansville till Sunday night and had scarcely got unloaded when it had to take out after the runaway steamers and barges. The Joe Fowler left this morning for Evansville. The schedules of the Evansville-Paducah packets have gone through more contortions than the honeysuckle in Harum & Bailey's circus.

Engineer James St. John is putting in the machinery of the Scotia. When that job is complete the Scotia will start to towing ties around here.

The Russell Lord arrived from St. Louis last night and will leave tomorrow with a tow for Calro.

The Jim Duffy will arrive today from the Tennessee river with a tow for the Ayer-Lord Tie company.

SMALL DOCKET.

Police Court Was Soon Over This Morning.

There was a small docket for Monday in police court today.

The cases against Clayborn Warren, colored, for carrying concealed a deadly weapon and for maliciously shooting at another, were continued until the 22nd.

Splitton Hobbs was fined $20 and costs in two cases for gaming. Lee Williams, both colored, was also fined $20 and costs for gaming.

Other cases: Tom Kelley, colored, setting up a game, examination waived, and held over under $300 bond; Garner Bros., breach of ordinance, $5 and costs.
